Congressman Asks Investigation Of Louis-Conn 'Fight'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representative Donald O'Toole (Dem.-N.Y.), terming the Louis-Conn heavyweight championship fight a "stinkeroo," said today "one more Mike Jacobs-directed fight like last night's and boxing will be as dead as the dodo."

Mr. O'Toole witnessed Wednesday night's bout by television. "Mike Jacobs ought to be barred from using the mails to defraud," Mr. O'Toole said to a reporter, referring to mail distribution of the fight tickets, with a top of $100 for ringside seats.

He demanded later that the New York State Boxing Commission hold up the purses of Louis and Conn until an investigation can be made of the fight. He voiced his demand in a telegram to Edward Egan, commission chairman, which asserted that the bout was "a fraud."

At New York, promoter Mike Jacobs' only comment was: "Before the fight, O'Toole's office called me up and demanded complimentary tickets to see it. I turned them down. So now he's hollering."

Packing Workers Ask Pay Increase

VANCOUVER (CP)—United Packing House Workers (C.I.O.) will ask on a nationwide basis for 25 cents and hour increase and 40-hour week when contracts with meat packing firms come up for renewal Aug. 1.

This was announced today by William Symington, district U.P.W.A. representative, on his return from the union's national convention in Montreal. The union now has maintenance of membership and the dues check-off in all plants, he said.

Face Early Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—The gold and copper mining industry today faced a growing danger of strike action. Informal discussions between the union and operators are deadlocked.

The operators' spokesman, Howard L. James, today informed the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers that formal negotiations will have to be carried on by each company separately with its local—not on an industry-wide basis as requested by the union.

Tornado Passed This Way

When the tornado that took 16 lives Tuesday hit Windsor and Detroit houses and buildings were ripped apart by the terrific wind. In River Rouge, small town near Detroit, Grace Baptist Church was totally destroyed by the tornado. This is all that is left of the building which collapsed. River Rouge was among the first areas to get the full force of the storm which flattened a housing project in one spot. Stores on the main street fell under the impact of the wind.

Sees Longer Life

Soviet Prof. Alexander A. Bogomolov, above, head of the Kiev Institute, may soon visit the U.S. to tell Americans first-hand about his A.C.S. serum which, he says, may extend man's normal life span to 150 years. The 65-year-old biologist says Russia is using the serum in "tremendous quantities."

Big Papers Printed At Hamilton, Ottawa

HAMILTON (CP)—The Hamilton Spectator today published a 26-page paper 15 minutes ahead of normal time for the first edition. It contained 11½ pages of advertising, compared with one page Wednesday. Striking compositors continued picketing.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Ottawa Evening Citizen today published an 18-page paper, the largest produced since 45 composing-room employees staged a "work stoppage" last May 30.

The size of the single daily edition has increased steadily since the work stoppage by members of the International Typographical Union (A.F.L.) forced suspension of publication for several days.

The Citizen still is not publishing a morning edition.

Agree On Plan To Get Out Of Italy, Bulgaria

PARIS (AP)—A British informant said the Foreign Ministers' Council agreed today that British and U.S. troops in Italy and Russian troops in Bulgaria should be evacuated within 90 days after peace treaties with those two countries go into effect.

The British source said the representatives of Britain, Russia, the United States and France, working in an unusually conciliatory atmosphere, also broke a deadlock that had existed for several months over the question of an Allied treaty inspection commission for Italy by adopting a Russian counter-proposal for a commission to be composed of the four Allied ambassadors in Rome.

The commission will supervise the carrying out of the terms of the treaty. The Russians previously had refused to approve the idea of such a commission, declaring it would be an infringement on Italian sovereignty.

On the first item of business today, however, the question of the French-Italian frontier, the Russians requested more time to study a report by a commission of hydro-electric experts. Discussion of the question was postponed.

British Foreign Secretary Bevin agreed to the principle of Italy drawing British troops from Italy within 90 days after the treaty goes into effect on condition that Soviet troops be withdrawn from Bulgaria within a similar period and that the United States permit times of communication to cross the American zone in Germany to Austria.

U.S. State Secretary Byrnes and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia agreed to the conditions and the proposal was adopted, the informant said.

Previously, at their meetings in May, Britain and the U.S. had bargained for Russian withdrawal from Romania, rather than Bulgaria, as a condition for British and U.S. withdrawal from Italy.

Order-In-Council For Drastic Step Awaits Approval

OTTAWA (CP)—An order-in-council providing for government control of Great Lakes shipping has been completed and only awaits cabinet approval. It was learned this afternoon. It was expected the order would go before the cabinet either later today or tomorrow.

While reports had been current that Howard Chase of Montreal would be appointed controller, it was understood that his duties as an official of the Locomotive Engineers' Union would prevent him from taking the position.

Major job of a controller of lake shipping would be to end the strike tie-up of oil tankers and coal-carrying ships, but it was expected he would have control over all lake shipping except passenger vessels.

Mayor Of Windsor Sore At Atty.-Gen.

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Mayor Arthur Rheame said today Attorney-General Blackwell of Ontario had said he would give consideration to an appeal for troops to prevent looting in suburban areas devastated by Monday's tornado, but accused the Attorney-General of "throwing his weight around" in an emergency.

The mayor said he had got in touch with Mr. Blackwell, who was in Windsor Wednesday night to attend a Police Association dinner. "He told me Ottawa has nothing to do with it and he would give it consideration, but didn't think there was any looting out there at all. He said the roads were blocked off and he thought it would be a reflection on the honesty of the people of Windsor to call in troops. I got sore and told him perhaps these looters were not from Windsor, that they might be from Toronto."

At the time of the Ford strike last fall and winter the Attorney-General "showed no hesitation" in sending police to Windsor. "I don't see why now when the property of little people is exposed to looting that the Attorney-General can do nothing but throw his weight around."

No Label Needed On Eire Republic

DUBLIN (CP)—Prime Minister de Valera in a brief discussion on the status of Eire said in the Dail Wednesday night the country was a republic within the British Commonwealth and that there was nothing inconsistent about that.

William Norton, Labor Party leader, said Eire had an internal President unable to look after external affairs, which were handled by the British government.

"And so we have here a republic and a monarchy," he said. "The two things are not inconsistent," said Mr. de Valera. Later he added: "So the British think."

Mr. Norton, who declared Mr. de Valera "can somersault on the edge of a razor blade," said "Republic" was not mentioned in the Eire constitution.

Mr. de Valera laughed and said "is it not good enough to see a horse and know what it is without putting a notice on its tail saying 'I am a horse'?"

Decoration Day

Four In Ten Canadians Feel Franco Threat To World Peace

By CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

TORONTO—The public relations of Gen. Francisco Franco y Bilhamonde could stand some hot steering in Canada, where four in 10 voters think he constitutes a threat to world peace, and three in 10 would like to see the United Nations take some action against him.

Canadian opinion is by no means unanimous on the question of Franco. For example, in Ontario, a majority of people believe he is a threat to world peace. In Quebec, a majority thinks he is not a threat to world peace. Other provinces show a fairly even division of opinion.

This report from the Canadian people on an issue which has rocked the U.N. as a result of Polish charges, comes via a national survey by the Canadian Institute, in which a sample of the voting population was asked:

"The United Nations are debating whether or not Franco in Spain is a threat to world peace.
What are your views on this?"
Threat to world peace 40%, not a threat 33%, undecided 27%.

The comparatively large "undecided" figure indicates that, to a great many Canadians, the issue is not clear.

QUEBEC FAVORS FRANCO Fairly sharp differences in point of view were found among the various sectors of the Canadian population. For one thing, Quebec and Ontario opinion is virtually reversed:

	Quebec	Ontario
Threat	20%	54%
Not threat	51%	22%
Undecided	29%	24%

Then again, the younger generation of voters is much more evenly divided on the issue than is the older group. Those Canadians between the ages of 21 and 29 years compare, in their opinions, with those over 50 years of age as follows:

	21-29 Years	Over 50 Years
Threat	47%	37%
Not threat	37%	58%
Undecided	16%	5%

The voters who, through their representative cross-section thought, Franco represented a threat to peace, were asked further:

"Do you think the United Nations should take some sort of action against Spain, or not?"

The 40 per cent who were asked this question divided as follows: Take action 31%, take no action 4%, undecided 5%.

When asked what sort of action, largest number suggested diplomatic action through U.N. such as the forced resignation of Franco. Remaining suggestions were either economic or military.

The unsympathetic attitude towards Franco revealed by this poll is in line with the findings of the affiliated American Institute, which recently reported that voters in U.S. opposed admitting Spain, under its present government, into the U.N. and actually divided evenly on whether United States should break off diplomatic relations with Spain.

New International Food Agency Takes Over Famine Fight

WASHINGTON (CP)—The
new International Emergency Food Council today took over the world famine fight, encouraged by Herbert Hoover's report that Argentina had undertaken to provide 90 per cent of food exports to Latin-American shortage areas during the critical May-August period, thus greatly relieving the drain on Canada and the United States.

Mr. Hoover, returning from a 15,000-mile survey trip through 11 South American countries, said Wednesday night he expected to make a final report on the world food situation in a broadcast from Ottawa early next week.

He attended the International Emergency Food Council meeting here today, at which Canada was represented by Agriculture Minister Gardiner. Directed here-before by the war-born Canadian British-American Combined Food Board, the famine battle was turned over officially to the I.E.F.C. this afternoon.

Eighteen additional food supplying and importing countries were invited to join the council, but two—Russia and Argentina —have not made known whether they plan to accept. The governments which have accepted are Canada, Great Britain, New Zealand, Union of South Africa, India, Australia, Belgium, Brazil,
Chile, China, Cuba, Denmark,
France, Greece, the Netherlands, Norway, Siam, Turkey and the United States.

Mr. Hoover's Ottawa visit is understood to be a gesture of appreciation to Canada for the part that country has played in providing cereals and other foods to meet the world food shortage and prevent starvation in the most critical areas.

The tentative date for his arrival in Ottawa is Wednesday of next week, it was learned.

Engineer's Wife Spy Trial Witness

SEATTLE (AP)—The government disclosed today that the wife of a trial engineer in a Seattle shipyard will be one of the witnesses for the prosecution in the espionage trial of Lt.
Nicola G. Redin, the erstwhile Seattle representative of the Soviet Purchasing Commission.

The trial is scheduled to start next Tuesday. Redin has denied guilt.

The woman is Mrs. Rowena Kennedy, wife of engineer Herbert Kennedy, who previously was identified as the key witness through whom the government alleges Redin arranged to obtain detailed plans for a navy destroyer tender.

The Kennedys were social acquaintances of the accused officer and his attractive young Russian wife, and the Redins were reported to have been often in the Kennedy home.

In this connection, the Post-Intelligence said today that it is reported that the Federal Bureau of Investigation had the Kennedy home wired for sound from cellular to garret.

The Kennedys have been reported as on a trip to Canada since Kennedy's name entered the case. Kennedy, 50, was born in Scotland and is a British subject although he has resided in the United States for 30 years.
U.S. Attorney J. Charles
Dennis has said that Kennedy "assisted us" in the case against the Russian.

itary District No. 3, Kingston, was announced today by defence headquarters. He succeeds Brig. G.
A. McCarter, C.B.E., 50, of Calgary, who is retiring from active service due to ill health. The appointment will become effective Aug. 1.

Entomologist Here, W. Downes, To Retire After 30 Years

William Downes, agricultural scientist of the Dominion Division of Entomology and acting provincial entomologist who founded the Victoria office in 1916, and who has saved several fruit crops of Vancouver Island from the ravages of insects, will retire July 13.

A keen farmer, who has farmed in various parts of the world, including Great Britain, New Zealand and the Okanagan fruitgrowing district of British Columbia, Mr. Downes will retire at his home 962 Island Road in Victoria where he will continue gardening.

Mr. Downes will be succeeded by Dr. Kenneth King, who has come to Victoria from Saskatoon.
He will later be succeeded by Harry Anderson, his former assistant, who at present is in the Kootenays conducting a study of the "little cherry" virus infection which is threatening to wipe out the entire Kootenay cherry crop.

Mr. Downes, who has studied entomology while farming, was appointed Dominion entomologist in 1916 when the Dominion Department of Agriculture in 1916 decided an entomologist was necessary on Vancouver Island to study the insect infections of fruit trees at Royal Oak which were endangering the crop. Mr.
Downes succeeded in developing a control for these insects.

In 1921-22 he worked out a cure for the strawberry root weevil which was threatening the then lucrative strawberry industry of Saanich. Since then he has worked on means to control several insects which where threatening small fruits and cherry trees, as well as a control for the coding moth, which annually eats Okanagan and Saanich fruit-growers hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The last big battle with the insects which Mr. Downes recalls was about seven years ago when he discovered in Victoria the apple sawfly.

Although controls had been discovered for the apple sawfly in Europe, where the disease had been first noted, Mr. Downes working with Mr. Anderson worked out what he considered a more satisfactory method of combating the insect.

Montreal M.P. Convicted Spy, Given 6 Years

MONTREAL (CP)—Fred Rose, 38-year-old Montreal Carlier Member of Parliament, who, Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure said had "betrayed" the land of his adoption, was sentenced today to six years in the penitentiary for conspiracy.

Rose, Polish-born, sole Labor-Progressive Party representative in Canada's House of Commons, was convicted by a King's Bench Court jury Saturday of having conspired to communicate information to Russia illegally.

"Under a cover name, you have betrayed your land of adoption and the country which has given you so much," the judge said in sending Rose to prison.

Sentencing of Rose ended one phase of the dramatic case that began last March when he was arrested in his Ottawa apartment. He still faces charges under the Official Secrets Act and is scheduled to appear for trial on them next September, although his counsel have announced their intention of appealing the conspiracy conviction this case may be delayed.

CLAIMS INNOCENCE

Rose told the court, before the judge pronounced sentence, that he had never done anything against the interest of his country.

"Whatever has been said, I still say that I am innocent," he declared.

Joseph Cohen, K.C., chief defence counsel, asked for clemency for the slight, balding M.P. Any sentence, he said, would bring reaction which would be severe punishment in itself and might ruin Rose's political career.

He referred to the judge's admonition early in the case against speeches or demonstrations in support of Rose during the trial, and said this admonition had been followed "to the letter."

The judge said these were factors supporting clemency and consequently he would pronounce sentence of six years rather than give the maximum of seven years and a $2,000 fine.

Rose was smiling when he was led into the prisoners' box, but he soon became serious, especially when the clerk of the court asked him if he had anything to say.

Before being led away, Rose asked a policeman if he could see his wife. His request was not granted, however.

Mrs. Rose, in a black suit and black hat, was led the court before he was pronounced and her husband had been led away she walked over to the defence bench and left the courtroom with Albert Marcus, a defence counsel.

ONLY SELF TO BLAME

The judge, as he pronounced sentence, said to Rose: "Nobody can be blamed but yourself."

"In the course of my remarks to the jury I have said how serious I regard the offence you have committed. If a plot such as the one described during this trial had not been discovered in time, or, if discovered, had been tolerated it is easy to imagine the consequences."

"I do not mean to say you have fully realized the gravity of the character of the offence you have committed. I think you know perfectly well the importance and the consequences of your work. You have been described as one of the ringleaders; knowing the functions you were fulfilling, your associates in this organization must have ascribed to you a high rank and a key task. At any rate, the crime you have committed is very serious."

Mr. Justice Lazure declared that Rose "had no reason and still less right than any other to do what you have done."

CANADA'S GIFTS

"You were born a foreigner, brought here I am told, poor and miserable—and I don't say that to offend you or anyone else, on the contrary—but they told me it was the situation when you arrived," he continued.

"Not only have the conditions prevailing in this country made you happy, free and prosperous, but citizens of this city have elected you to a position of honor and very high responsibility, a member of our parliament."

"Instead of showing a deep gratitude to this country, you were ready and willing to sacrifice its interest and safety, and give your loyalty to a foreign land. Even if you were sincere, which I doubt, this way of thinking and feeling is not normal and cannot be tolerated."

WINNIPEG (CP)—Four of the eight German prisoners of war who were missing from a camp in the Letticher, Man., area Wednesday, have been rounded up, R.C.M.P. officials announced today.

Whistle Blasts Mark Strike End For Mills Here

Sawmill whistles blew in Victoria this afternoon for the first time since May 15.

First large sawmill to start operation was Lemon Gonason Co. Ltd., 2324 Government Street. Steam from the boilers was turned into the machinery at 1 this afternoon and the mill began cutting much-needed lumber.

Dalziel Box Co. Ltd., 2800 Bridge Street, sounded its whistle for the first time since the strike this afternoon in its box plant where 15 to 20 men went to work to make 5,000 to 7,000 berry crates and 20,000 tomato crates needed to save crops on the south end of Vancouver Island. The Dalziel sawmill will not start operation again for a week as some repairs are to be effected first.

More Start Tomorrow

Other sawmills are to start operation tomorrow or Monday. Sweeney Co. Ltd. saw and barrel-making plant here expects to haul the first log since May 15 out of its mill pond Friday morning. Manning Lumber Co. Ltd. plant at 1910 Store Street, will sound its whistle Monday morning and start full operation. The reopening of this mill is being delayed by a new installation.

Moore Whittington Lumber Co. Ltd. will start operations Friday morning. The B.C. Forest Products Mill, formerly operated by the Cameron Lumber Co. Ltd. will start Monday morning.

Operations in the woods will be a little slower getting started, but a union spokesman in Vancouver has reported the industry will be back to almost full production by Saturday.

The union and operators signed the 1946 collective bargaining contract before Chief Justice Gordon Sloan here at 11 this morning, the time at which the International Woodworkers of America (I.W.A.) had instructed the men to go back to work.

Signing for the I.W.A. were Harold Pritchett, district president, and others. Mr. Pritchett had announced the end of the strike among the 35,000 woodworkers of the province in Vancouver Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Pritchett said that men in the northern and southern interior, for whom an agreement is yet to be negotiated under the direction of Chief Justice Sloan, will return to work immediately. Those operators who had voluntarily signed the 1946 agreement, containing the union's original demands will be met by the union to discuss adjustment of wage and hours clauses to bring them in line with the Sloan recommendations.

"The independent operators' promise to grant union security, however, will still be binding," he said, "because it doesn't cost them a cent."

Mr. Pritchett instructed maintenance men in forests and mills to return to work at once so that swift resumption of log and lumber production can be resumed.

The Victoria Local 1-118, representing 700 woodworkers, voted on the district council's recommendations that the Sloan proposals be accepted to end the strike at a meeting in the Butcher's Hall here Wednesday night.

John Waincoat, union local secretary, reported the vote to return to work would have been unanimous except for one worker who wanted to hold out for the union's original demands. All union locals are voting on the district council's recommendations before returning to work.

It is understood that the majority rule prevails in the vote of the locals. If a majority vote for acceptance of the executive council recommendations, all must adhere to the decision.

During the 37-day-long strike, 18,000 board feet of lumber were released by the strikers for Greater Victoria war veterans for their partly-completed homes.

A. Palmer, executive secretary of the Greater Victoria Citizens' Rehabilitation Council, commending the I.W.A. strike committee for its work in releasing the lumber, said the council had issued authorizations to 122 veterans to seek lumber, which were approved by the strike committee, and the committee itself approved another 58 applications by veterans for smaller quantities of lumber.

End of the strike eliminated concern among Vancouver Island fruit growers that containers would not be available to market their crops.

Principal concern of growers is the barrel scarcity. Between 400 and 500 barrels are expected to be needed for the Keating and Gordon Head loganberry crop.

The signing of this contract, for which the operators and union had negotiated since last March, formally brought to an end the 37-day-old strike of 37,000 woodworkers throughout the province.

Chief Justice Sloan, following the signing ceremony, said he hoped to begin negotiations shortly between the union and the operators of the northern and southern interior. He said he felt sure the public would be pleased that the men were returning to work.

The Chief Justice had made several attempts to bring the two parties to the dispute together, one at an 11th hour the day before the strike was effected. His recommendations of a 15-cent-an-hour across-the-board wage boost, an average 44-hour work week and voluntary irrevocable check-off of union dues formed the basis for settlement of the dispute.

The new terms under which the men will work become effective today. There had been some question as to whether or not the new contract would be made retroactive to April 15, the date at which the 1945 contract ended. Following the signing, Mr.

Victoria College May To Normal School

Victoria College, its enrolment swollen several times since the end of the war, may possibly this fall be housed in the spacious Provincial Normal School Building.

Education Minister G. M. Weir said today he was hopeful the Provincial Normal School Building, at present occupied by the Canadian army to house Victoria Military Hospital, would be turned over by the Dominion government to the provincial Department of Public Works shortly. Negotiations for return of the building to the province have been under way for some time.

While Dr. Weir said he was not in a position to say what use the building would be put to this fall, he admitted discussions on this question were proceeding between the provincial government's Education Department, the Greater Victoria School Board and the Victoria College Council.

He emphasized that no agreement had yet been reached as to whether or not the building would be available to the college, but he added that occupancy of the building by Victoria College was under consideration.

Since the building was taken over by the army as a hospital, the provincial Normal School here has been housed in Memorial Hall. Ultimate fate of the Normal School in Victoria is also indefinite, it having long been rumored that the classes here might be abandoned and all teachers trained at the provincial Normal School in Vancouver.

Lone Worker In Opposition

John Waincoat, union local secretary, reported the vote to return to work would have been unanimous except for one worker who wanted to hold out for the union's original demands.

All union locals are voting on the district council's recommendations before returning to work.

It is understood that the majority rule prevails in the vote of the locals. If a majority vote for acceptance of the executive council recommendations, all must adhere to the decision.

During the 37-day-long strike, 18,000 board feet of lumber were released by the strikers for Greater Victoria war veterans for their partly-completed homes.

A. Palmer, executive secretary of the Greater Victoria Citizens' Rehabilitation Council, commending the I.W.A. strike committee for its work in releasing the lumber, said the council had issued authorizations to 122 veterans to seek lumber, which were approved by the strike committee, and the committee itself approved another 58 applications by veterans for smaller quantities of lumber.

End of the strike eliminated concern among Vancouver Island fruit growers that containers would not be available to market their crops.

Principal concern of growers is the barrel scarcity. Between 400 and 500 barrels are expected to be needed for the Keating and Gordon Head loganberry crop.

The signing of this contract, for which the operators and union had negotiated since last March, formally brought to an end the 37-day-old strike of 37,000 woodworkers throughout the province.

Chief Justice Sloan, following the signing ceremony, said he hoped to begin negotiations shortly between the union and the operators of the northern and southern interior. He said he felt sure the public would be pleased that the men were returning to work.

The Chief Justice had made several attempts to bring the two parties to the dispute together, one at an 11th hour the day before the strike was effected. His recommendations of a 15-cent-an-hour across-the-board wage boost, an average 44-hour work week and voluntary irrevocable check-off of union dues formed the basis for settlement of the dispute.

The new terms under which the men will work become effective today. There had been some question as to whether or not the new contract would be made retroactive to April 15, the date at which the 1945 contract ended. Following the signing, Mr.

NOW TO WORK

NO GOOD PURPOSE WOULD BE served at this stage by rehearsing the dispute which more than a month ago brought the forest and sawmill industries of British Columbia to a complete standstill. Resumption of work today is the most fitting commentary on a stoppage which has been extremely costly to both labor and management. The officials of the International Woodworkers of America have accepted the proposals which Chief Justice Gordon Sloan submitted as the basis of a new agreement. With a slight variation in the interpretation of the union check-off system, the formula is substantially the same as that to which the operators agreed in the first place.

Labor and management require no reminder that work, continuous work, is the prime requisite for the completion of Canada's transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy. Strikes rarely benefit anybody in the last analysis. For the most part they are merely the physical demonstration of an inherent right; and none will seriously argue in favor of the removal from labor laws those safeguards which long experience has determined. But basic privileges must be matched by basic responsibilities. Work stoppages such as that just brought to a conclusion in this province, for example, become the concern of every citizen immediately—regardless of whether he is a wage earner or a high school student, a corner grocer or a union man in some industry only remotely connected with that involved in the dispute. None escapes the economic blight which follows the silencing of the wheels of production.

Now that the I.W.A. and the province's operators have entered, or are about to enter, into a new agreement, it is fitting to congratulate both sides to the recent dispute on the manner in which they have conducted themselves. It is useless to try to argue, of course, how the strike weapon might have remained in its scabbard; but it is highly satisfactory to recall that virtually the only "violence" which manifested itself from beginning to end was of the verbal variety. And a good deal of this had such an apologetic ring to it that the average observer felt that the heart of neither side was wholly in a business which both knew was striking at the root of the economy of British Columbia. In this may be the promise that in future differences of opinion work will be continued while the points of conflict are being composed.

Inherent in all industrial disputes, whether in Canada or elsewhere, is the danger of idleness militating against the production of that volume of national wealth which is so essential to the elevation of living standards. Nobody denies, incidentally, that the redistribution of the total wealth of the nation on a fairer basis is a desirable objective in any society and, under our present taxation laws, this country has gone a long way in this direction. What is more important to bear in mind, however, is that we make quite sure that there is plenty of wealth to distribute. Strikes dissipate it; work produces it.

COALITION PARTY UNNECESSARY

IMMEDIATELY AFTER HIS ELECTION last Saturday as leader of the Progressive Conservative Party for British Columbia, Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Finance in the Coalition administration over which Premier Hart presides, defined the position of his party in the present provincial government. He phrased it simply so that all who had any doubts as to where he stood could easily understand his attitude. We repeat it here for that reason:

"I am not prepared to support formation of a new Coalition party, the result of which would only make an additional political party in the province which would be detrimental."

"There is no need for such a move. The present working arrangement between the two great parties is very satisfactory, and all that is required during the emergency."

"Premier Hart and his colleagues have been very fair in their dealings with our members, and have faithfully carried out all the understandings that we have had with them, and it is very evident that the great mass of the thinking people of the province desire the present working arrangement to continue."

It was right and proper for Mr. Anscomb to explain his opposition to the idea of subjugating the identity of the two major parties into an official Coalition Party, because the only other contender for the provincial Progressive Conservative leadership was Mr. W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition member of the Legislature for South Okanagan, who for the last year, had championed this complete departure. How he was able to square his belief in the necessity of an entirely new political—or non-political—entity with his convention battle for the plum which Mr. Anscomb won so handsomely must have puzzled most of the delegates to the Vancouver meeting.

Neither provincial Liberal nor provincial Progressive Conservative need apologize for advocating efficient organization of each party under its distinct identity—provided the influence of both is pooled in the interests of what now may be called the Hart-Anscomb Coalition administration: What course of action the two old-line parties pursue in the federal field is another matter altogether. One of these days there may be a general sorting out—an examination of partisan nomenclature to determine who is what; the final disposition might yield many surprises. Nothing in the foregoing is intended to discount the belief of Liberals and Progressive Conservatives in the Dominion field that a clear line of demarcation distinguishes the competing political philosophies in certain basic particulars. We are merely emphasizing the fact that in purely British Columbia politics no such conflict exists between the followers of Mr. Hart and the followers of Mr. Anscomb.

On the other hand, any concerted attempt to form a rigid Coalition Party would send the lukewarm adherents to the present effective working arrangement back to their respective tents, there to lay plans for the old-fashioned, time-wasting squabbles on the hustings and in the Legislature. That such a course would be repugnant to the majority of the people of British Columbia is obvious; at the general election last October they had their choice—Coalition versus the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation—and they elected two-thirds of the Legislature pledged to support the Hart-Maitland administration. The opposition party knows that public opinion has not changed in the meantime; but Mr. Winch and his supporters, in and out of the House, are hoping somebody will take the ball from Mr. Bennett and press for an unnecessary Coalition Party.

HE GOT LITTLE HELP

OUR NEIGHBORS' EXPERIENCE WITH strikes in recent weeks and months has revealed to them what a difference, particularly in party outlook, a single day can make. For example, the applause with which Congress had greeted President Truman's plea for strike legislation had scarcely died when a chorus of strange political bedfellows raised their voices against the chief executive. Pro-labor Democrats and conservative Republicans were joined by some of the more vocal labor leaders.

Mr. Truman was called a ham actor and a political accident. He was accused of treason and of committing a despicable act. But never once did his traducers suggest that the President had any provocation for his drastic proposals, though the settlement of a paralyzing rail strike was not 24 hours old. After all the tasteless name-calling was over, what did the Senators and labor leaders have to offer in a situation essentially unchanged? The Senators busied themselves with strategies which would delay any action whatsoever on Mr. Truman's requests. The labor leaders threatened vengeance on the President and his supporters, and indicated that they would defend to the end the legal right of Messrs. Lewis, Whitney, Johnston, Curran, Bridges, and anyone else strong enough to tie up the nation's life any time they saw fit.

The chief objection was to Mr. Truman's proposal that workers be drafted into the armed forces if they refused to work in a government-operated industry whose stoppage would affect the entire economy. But the fact remains that the citizens of the United States were confronted, in the railroad strike, with potential hardships far worse than any which resulted from enemy action in the late war. The authority of their government was successfully challenged by a handful of men. The President of the United States accepted that challenge and acted to protect the interests, safety and health of the many against the few whose demands, while perhaps just, were pressed by ruthless, dangerous means. And all the accusations of treason, totalitarianism, and ham-acting will not improve a situation in the neighboring Republic in which Canada is vitally concerned. A remedy based on mutual consent and understanding will be required.

A LITTLE DISAPPOINTING

THE MAJORITY OF VICTORIA'S SPORTS enthusiasts who follow the fights by radio tempered their disappointment over challenger Billy Conn's inadequate showing against champion Joe Louis last night with the appreciation of the fact that they paid no exorbitant admission to witness the engagement. If they had any criticism to voice, it probably found its soundest grounds in the priest over the manner in which the fight had been ballyhooed. In the greater wisdom that comes after the event, it was patent that Conn had not the power to overcome the "Brown Bomber," whose destructive efficiency was indicated to citizens here in his exhibition late last year. But the challenger appeared the best opposition that could be found for a great champion.

It will be noted, too, that gate receipts were far below the more optimistic estimates. Despite that, however, the two fighters received a reported $577,000 and $289,000 respectively, before tax deductions. And while the lay public will wonder if such payments can be justified, its members must keep in mind the fact that last night's contestants were the best of thousands who make their living at the business and who frequently must accept meagre returns for their participation in a punishing industry.

Climbing a Mountain

By B. T. RICHARDSO
LUCERNE, SWITZERLAND.

EVER SINCE READING Mark Twain's accounts of the Matterhorn and the Jungfrau, I had realized that the thing to do in Switzerland was to get up on a mountain for a good view of the Alps. They are worth looking at, like the Canadian Rockies.

Another reason for taking a second look at the Swiss Alps is that they sheltered a tough core of democracy throughout a war in the age of rocket bombs and split atoms, even though aggression swirled all around them. What the Swiss call their "national redoubt" is ringed by mountains. In 1943, the Swiss learned through the grapevine that Hitler was ready to take them over. They placed their army in the redoubt and coolly figured they could last out a year. In the inner valleys one sees the fighter-plane landing strips, the machine-gun emplacements carved in the cliff faces, and the tunnel entrances to storehouses. Switzerland has been free since the Holy Roman Empire, except for a short interval in Napoleon's time, so its people were ready to make an issue of it with Hitler at the drop of a bomb.

BUT IF MARK TWAIN had been able to see the sunrise over the Alps, we figured we would have a look ourselves. By taking a joyous little steamer ride from Lucerne to Vitznau (this is getting right into the William Tell country) we began our first ascent under conditions somewhat short of heroic. With assorted American soldiers and gay Swiss holiday makers, we boarded the narrow-gauge railway up Rigi Mountain. From scraps of information picked up in German, a language as dead as Hitler as far as we are concerned, we gathered that the Rigi railway running up to a 4,000-foot summit, was 75 years old this year. It is a slick little mechanism of steel and aluminum.

We coasted along, up and up. Each hairpin turn presented a breathtaking view of Switzerland laid out before our eyes. At the top, the whole panorama of the Alps extended across the whole horizon.

FEELING WE HAD not quite climbed for our mountaineering badges, we singled out the Jungfrau peak a few days later. Our hotel head porter shook his head as he looked at the barometer. The visibility, we gathered, would be poor. Arriving at Interlaken, we looked up the valley south towards the peaks. Nothing but a low curtain of clouds could be seen. It was no use going any further, and it was more fun to ride the narrow-gauge railway, with a third rail for the gear-wheel the train uses to help it up steep grades. We saw plenty of mountain that day but all the tops were in the clouds.

Our third major effort to secure a world-famous mountain view was directed against the Matterhorn, deep on the Swiss-French border. Again the head porter shook his head as he shook the barometer. Pas de Matterhorn we gathered. However, we boldly embarked on a train going past Lake Lemman, Montreux, the Castle of Chillon and traveled up the Rhone Valley.

THIS IS THE CANTON of Valais, where the grapevines grow on the mountain sides, and if a grape falls off it lands on the next canton. The Rhone Valley was a magnificent sight—towering mountain sides and a blanket of cloud from side to side about 2,000 feet up. We got to Vevie where you change to the narrow-gauge for Zermatt. The clouds were only 1,000 feet up at this stage. A tourist must make the difficult decision of spending $7.50 for a round-trip ticket to see the Matterhorn hidden by cloud, or save the money. We left the Matterhorn behind the cloud and took the next train back down the Rhone, stopping at Sion to see the sights.

Whenever mountains came up in the conversation, we were well armed to carry our end of it. But for boring our friends with travel talk, we still rely on the time we saw Mount Cook on the south island of New Zealand from an airplane, and the time the train stopped and we saw Mount Robson in the moonlight. We are withdrawing our application for membership in the Alpine Club.

Quoting

It would take the most incredible folly on the part of any nation or group of nations to dynamite the foundations for a peaceful world that we and our allies have successfully laid. —Edward R. Stettinius, ex-U.S. United Nations delegate.

The schools have got to do something to develop the individual. The average teacher is more interested in trying to get students to think he is smart than he is in teaching something to the students. —Dr. Willis A. Sutton, former president, U.S. National Education Association.

The effects of prolonged hunger in countries which suffer from conditions left unstable by the course of the war, and the impact of a continuing food crisis on a world economic system still shuddering from assaults upon it, are frightening to contemplate. —U.S. Under-Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

The world can no longer get along with large masses of prejudiced, intolerant, un-understanding and immature people who all take their own superiority for granted. Those attitudes will, in all probability, now that really effective weapons are becoming available, destroy most of the human race within the next few years. —G. Brock Chisholm, Canadian Deputy Minister of National Health and Welfare.

Letters To The Editor

WANT SKILLED CRAFTSMEN
This letter is an appeal to the local construction unions. An item was noticed in your paper in respect to a request by the labor council that union labor and union members only be hired on the arena project.

For the sake of sound, reasonably priced construction and skilled craftsmanship, will the union please put their own houses in order by cutting adrift, weeding out or grading their membership, before they insist on such legislation?

Why cannot a contractor go to a union with the expectation of getting a skilled, conscientious craftsman? The situation is so imbalanced today that any builder who can figure construction labor costs with reasonable accuracy is a genius. This mounting labor cost is not only worrying to the employers, but is certainly heartbreaking to Mr. and Mrs. Public who want to build a modest home.

Just this week a prominent architect told the writer he would gladly insert in his specifications the clause "none but union men to be employed" if he could be sure of getting only skilled craftsmen. The unions have the power to affect a great blessing to the industry. How about it?

The first part of the program presented a display of exercises done by four groups: Grade 4 led by Miss A. Muirhead; Grades 1 and 2 by Miss E. Stydin; Grade 6 and Grades 7 and 8 by F. White.

Then pupils in costume massed to sing "Come to the Fair." Grades 4 and 7 presented folk dances, including maypole and ribbon dances.

QUEER STORIES ARE TOLD ABOUT OLD BRIDGES

Strange tales have gathered around bridges. The most common story tells us that one life must be given up for each bridge which is built.

Bridge-building is dangerous work, and it is true that lives are claimed at times. Yet many of the structures have been reared without loss of life. In other cases, the collapse of a bridge has brought death to several persons.

A special story is told of a bridge in central Switzerland. Known as "the Devil's Bridge," it spans the Reuss river.

The legend tells us that Satan said he would allow the bridge to be built only on one condition. The condition was that he would receive the first living being to cross it.

When the work was finished, a workman buried a loaf of bread from one side to the other. A dog ran across the bridge to reach the flying object, and was claimed by Satan, as the "first living being" to cross.

Another "Devil's Bridge" is found in France in the city of Cahors. It has eight arches and stretches across the River Lot.

Built of craggy sandstone, the bridge has the official name of "Pont Valentre," meaning "Bridge of the Valley Entrance." It was put up six centuries ago, and the time taken to erect it is said to have been 47 years.

In the midst of the task, 'tis said, the man in charge grew tired. The legend goes on to say that he had a talk with Satan. "I will sell you my soul," he declared, "if you will help finish this bridge."

"Very well," replied Satan. "This bargain," the man went on, "means that you will do everything I say until the task is finished."

"Very well," agreed Satan. So the Prince of Darkness went to work. He had almost finished when the man started to worry about his soul. Then a clever idea was born. The man handed Satan a sieve and told him to use it to carry water to the masons. Satan tried to do this, but failed. So the man's soul was saved!

Dockyard Legion Plans Special Meeting July 3

A special general meeting of Esquimalt Dockyard Branch, Canadian Legion, has been called for July 3 at 8 p.m. to discuss and if necessary amend the draft for the formation of the proposed Dockyard Legion Building Association.

Rear-Admiral V. G. Brodeur, in a report received by the branch at its regular meeting Wednesday night, in connection with employment of veterans in the civil service in the dockyard, indicated the manner of handling personnel on both east and west coasts is being investigated and changes probably will be made to simplify the system.

Ticket sales for the branch excursion to Port Angeles were reported good.

Metchosin Church Setting For Wedding

The picturesque country church of St. Mary's, Metchosin, decorated with baskets of white flowers and white candles set in daisies at the windows formed the setting Wednesday evening for the marriage of Mona Jean, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Reynolds, Park Drive,
Albert Head, and Thomas Arthur Dando, Lieut. R.C.N. (R.), son of Mrs. A. B. C. Dando, Vancouciated and K. Smythe was at the organ.

Wearing a gown of white silk tulle with a square neckline decorated with ruching and the bouffant skirt gathered into a dropped waistline, the bride was given away by her father. A coronet of orange blossoms held her three-point Brussels embroidered lace veil and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses, carnations and white sweet peas.
Twin frocks of sky blue net over tulle and pale pink hats trimmed with roses were worn by the senior attendants, Miss Mary Reynolds and Miss Florence Dando. They carried gold and pink roses with sweet peas.
A dainty frock of white eyelet embroidery with white lace mitts was worn by the flower girl, Miss Rosalie Orwin. A N. Jack

frey Reynolds ushers.

A reception was held at the

You'll get 50% MORE JAM or JELLY from your fruit with CERTO

It's Very Easy...Very Quick... gives SURE RESULTS

Certo jams need only a one to two-minute full rolling boil. Certo jellies only a half-minute to a minute. So quick—so easy. No long, tedious boiling and stirring.

In this short boil practically no precious juice can boil away in steam. So you get up to one-half more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit than in long-boil extra amount.

Short boiling cannot spoil the fresh fruit taste or dull the natural colour as old-fashioned long-boiling does. Certo jams and jellies retain lovely colour—fresh fruit taste.

You get a book of tested, easy-to-follow recipes with every bottle of Certo—a different recipe for each kind of fruit. Follow them exactly and you are sure of success.

Certo is fruit pectin—the natural jelling substance in fruit—extracted from fruit in which it is most plentiful.

Look for Book of Tested Recipes under the label of every Certo bottle.

A pound of jam or jelly made with Certo contains no more sugar than a pound made the old, long-boil way.

A.F.L. Council Asks Hearings To Change Unemployment Act

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night recommended that public hearings be held across Canada to consider changes in the Unemployment Insurance Act.

This decision followed a report of Charles Chivers, member of the court of referees of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. He deplored many of the cases compelled to come before the referees. It was recommended the referees of the council bring forward a constructive report on their findings.

Harold Thayer, reporting for the International Machinists, said that a service training credit committee had been set up in co-operation with the Department of Veterans Affairs to give credit for time served at the trade while in the services.

W. Shearing and H. Klunk were seated as delegates for the Retail Clerks' Union.

Report on the I.L.O. conference in Seattle was presented by William McLaughlin, business representative of the Seafarers' International Union.

Novikoff May Not Join Rainiers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Lou Novikoff, surprised at the Phillies' announcement that they had sold him to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League, isn't sure he's going there and has an eye cocked for Mexico.

"No I haven't had an offer from the Mexican league," the big outfielder said. "But I'm interested. There's money in Mexico."

Now 30, Novikoff has come up to the majors three times, twice with the Chicago Cubs and this year with the Phils.

Expert On France Will Address Club

Lieut. Francois Roussy de Sales, constantly sought by the Gestapo during the war because of his great influence in the underground movement in France, and now on a tour of universities under the auspices of the French Allied Committee and French Ministry of Information, will speak at a Canadian Club luncheon Friday in the Empress Hotel Grill Room.

Lieut. de Sales is a native of Calgary. He had an exciting military career before the occupation of France and was deputy chief of the French liaison mission with the United States army. He is a nephew of Maj.-Gen. Georges Vanier, Canadian ambassador to France, and comes from a distinguished family of soldiers and diplomats.

His subject Friday will be "France Since Liberation."

Rev. John Furlong Appointed Canon Of Spokane Church

Rev. John Furlong, well-known Victoria navy padre who during the war years officiated at the christening of Canadian frigates and corvettes built here, has been appointed a canon of the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist at Spokane, Wash. The appointment was announced today by Dean Charles E. McAllister of Spokane.

A native of Wales, the new canon came to Canada at the age of 18. He served in the Canadian army for four years in World War I and during World War 2 he joined the navy in his ministerial capacity. He organized the chaplaincy for the service and was senior Protestant naval chaplain. On being released from the navy he left Victoria for Vancouver, where he was appointed assistant to Dean Cecil Swanson of Christ Church Cathedral. While in Victoria, Mr. Furlong resided at 223 Denison Road.

Rules Of Union Conflict With Code

OTTAWA (CP) — Labor Minister Mitchell said Wednesday in the Commons that rules of the International Typographical Union (A.F.L.), involved in a strike with newspapers of the Southern group, were in conflict with the federal labor code.

Mr. Mitchell had been asked by Stanley Knowles, C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre, in regard to the situation at the Winnipeg Tribune. The minister said the code provided that all the terms of a collective agreement between employees and an employer were subject to final and binding arbitration.

"The Typographical Union insists its own general rules, including local union rules, must become a part of the collective agreement with every employer with whom such an agreement is negotiated," Mr. Mitchell said.

"One provision of the general rules of the union is that such rules are not subject to arbitration. In view of what I have just said it will be seen that the union law in that respect is in conflict with the provision of the wartime labor relations regulations."

Mr. Knowles also asked whether the Winnipeg Tribune had offered to submit its company by-laws to arbitration.

"I am informed the Winnipeg Tribune did not insist that its by-laws become part of the collective agreement between itself and the union," Mr. Mitchell replied.

Eight Pre-Primary Classes; Expect 480 Applicants

It may be impossible to accommodate all the applicants for pre-primary classes in Greater Victoria this September, Inspector J. P. K. English said today, in announcing the names of teachers who will handle the eight centres in the area to have pre-primary classes.

The teachers are as follows: Mrs. D. Toder, Spring Ridge; Miss Margaret Sampson, Oaklands; Mrs. W. Copeland, Sir James Douglas; Miss Muriel Anderson, Victoria West; Miss Do-reen Radcliffe, Margaret Jenkins; Miss Jane Service, Oak Bay; Miss Blanche Haggerman, Cloverdale, and Miss E. Bell, North Ward.

"There is very heavy registration throughout the Greater Victoria area and rooms, which will be used are being decorated and equipped as well as possible under the circumstances," according to Mr. English.

Indication of the popularity of the classes is the fact that while there were 180 pupils last year, this year about 480 are expected. Each class accommodates 60 pupils, with 30 taken in the morning and 30 in the afternoon.

"The teachers are all experienced in primary work and are under the very capable direction of Miss Marian James," Mr. English said.

He paid tribute to the co-operation received from Parent-Teacher Associations in every way.

Head Through Glass Complain Of Knee

Even though his head went through the windshield in the impact of a car with a telephone pole at Toronto and Heather Streets, this morning, H. P. John, 1317 Pandora Avenue, suffered only a slight cut on one ear.

Constables Walter Andrews and James Strong of the city police who attended the accident, said the force of the collision moved the heavy pole about eight inches.

John, who was a front-seat passenger, was thrown forward, but is not his head about which he complained. A bump on his knee was more painful, he said.

Driver of the car was James A. Shearer, 962 Yates Street, and his explanation of the accident was the machine went out of control when he reached behind, to steady a lunch pail which started to move.

Brenta Lodge Sold To War Veteran

During the war the new owner served with the Royal Canadian Navy for five years. He was also an officer aboard one of the Park Steamships vessels.

Prairie Visitor Lands Big One

Gilpin of Vancouver, the Albertan hooked into the big one near Mackenzie Bay. Others in the picture are William A. Ludlow and his son, George. Only bigger fish on the record books of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association is the 53½ pounder caught by Roy Thompson of Victoria, June 12, 1932. Gilpin was not a member of the association so did not qualify for a button.

B.C. Masons Observe 75th Year Of Grand Lodge Founding Here

The Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of B.C. in Empress Hotel today opened its first day's meeting of the 75th annual communication since the lodge was first formed in Victoria in 1871.

Mayor Percy George, a member of the Victoria Masonic Lodge, gave a civic welcome to the delegates at 9:30, after which visiting Masonic officials from lodges in California, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta were introduced. General business followed. This afternoon, election of officers was begun and is expected to be completed by evening.

Wednesday afternoon, an emergent communication was held to unveil a memorial plaque observing the 75th anniversary of formation of the Grand Lodge. The meeting also honored 100 masons who have been members for 50 years or more. Approximately 50, who were able to attend, were presented at the ceremony by John Woolcock, District Deputy Grand Master, Victoria District No. 1. Each was given a leather wallet bearing his initials and containing a card commemorating the occasion.

Later in the afternoon, nearly 1,000 people, made up of masons and their families, attended Divine service at Christ Church Cathedral, which was conducted by Rev. G. A. Reynolds, Grand Chaplain.

Following the service, 427 members of the Grand Lodge attended a reception by Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward at Government House.

On Friday the Grand Lodge sessions will be resumed and Grand Lodge officers will be installed. In the evening, an anniversary dinner and concert will be held at Bay Street Armories, starting at 6:30.

Rabbit Still Bunny Till It Leaves Mom, Says City Solicitor

When is a rabbit, not a rabbit according to the Victoria city by-law?

That was the poser received by M. F. Hunter, city clerk today. In a letter from Mrs. Iris Sparkes, secretary of the Vancouver Island Rabbit Breeders' Association.

"One of our members had a complaint from the sanitary inspector about some rabbits," Mrs. Sparkes wrote. "Now we understand the by-law stated that a person may keep 15 head."

"But no one seems to know if this is 15 head in all or 15 head of mature stock, as one doe is quite capable of having a litter of 15," she wrote, adding that if the by-law considered such a litter as 15 head, it seemed "unreasonable."

Called upon for his interpretation of the by-law, A. J. Patton, city solicitor said:

"In my opinion the new litter would not be considered as rabbits until they were old enough to be independent of their mother. It's the same as the dog by-law. A puppy is not a dog until it is six months old."

Justice Mackenzie Dies

Mr. Justice Philip E. Mackenzie, 74, chancellor of the University of Saskatchewan and former head of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal, died in hospital in Regina Wednesday. He had been ill for three weeks. He had been a frequent visitor to Victoria and had planned to spend two months here this summer.

Believes Australian Military Interests To Stay In Pacific

Australia's military interests in the future will be centred in the Far East and South Pacific, and, in the event of another war, her soldiers will fight in that region rather than going to battlefields in other parts of the world as in the past, in the opinion of Gen. Sir John D. Lavarack, K.B.E., C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., now in Victoria.

Sir John, who for the last two years has been chief of the Australian military mission to Washington, D.C., and recently has been on the Far Eastern Commission, sitting in the U.S., is returning to Australia where he will retire after 41 years' service with the Australian permanent force.

"The Australian soldier, in stating his belief Australians would be fighting closer to home if there were to be another war, was one of those Australians who fought for the British Commonwealth in battlefields thousands of miles from home."

During World War I he saw service in France, Salonika and Macedonia. In World War II he again saw service far away from his country. He left the South Pacific contingent with the 1st Australian Corps which he organized and led. He fought in the Middle East and was in the campaign which forced Rommel, the Desert Fox, back from his advance on Cairo. He was knighted for his service in North Africa.

Finally his troops got back to the Far East, but not in time to battle the Japanese at Singapore. Sir John believes if he had been able to get his trained 1st Australian Corps into Singapore in time to meet the Japs, the British base might not have been lost to the enemy. The Australian 8th Division, which was in Singapore, had no actual fighting experience, he pointed out.

Sir John is accompanied by Lady Lavarack and will leave here Sunday for San Francisco to board ship for Australia. He is accompanied by Capt. B. W. Johnston of the Australian army, who will go as far as San Francisco before returning to Washington.

Huge Jewel Theft In Orient Reported; Loot Recovered

SINGAPORE (CP)—British special agents have recovered a $6,000,000 cache of gold, currency and jewels—including "diamonds as big as your thumbnail"—in a fabulous East Indian theft which a high official described as "far bigger than the theft of the Hesse crown jewels."

He said the treasure was privately owned property appropriated by the Japanese during the occupation of the East Indies, later recovered by Allied authorities and then stolen.

A British headquarters spokesman confirmed that an officer and a sergeant had been arrested in Batavia and said "there is considerable truth in press reports from Java."

(The Batavia correspondent of the London Daily Mail said Wednesday that a Japanese cache of $28,000,000 worth of gold, jewels and cash had been taken and that a Eurasian girl named Carla Wolff, and several Dutchmen and Chinese also were being held.)

Stock's Big Fall To Be Investigated

TORONTO (CP)—Possibility of a full-scale investigation into transactions that caused Beaulieu Yellowknife Gold Mine stock to drop from $2.60 to 60 cents within two weeks was seen today following an announcement by C. P. McTaggart, chairman of the Ontario Securities Commission, that the commission was completing a preliminary inquiry.

Beaulieu Yellowknife shareholders from many parts of Canada and the United States at a special meeting here Wednesday asked that the Toronto Stock Exchange regulate short-selling.

Samuel Ciglen, president of Beaulieu, addressed the meeting. Stock market losses were said to have been more than $1,000,000.

Pays Visit Here

Lee Shippey, columnist for the Los Angeles Times for the last 20 years, and author of four books, leaves Victoria for Vancouver today after a brief visit here.

Mr. Shippey had a colorful newspaper career before he launched into the task of writing novels. He was war correspondent for the Kansas City Star during World War I, after which he left for Mexico, arriving finally at Tampico, where he worked as publicity agent for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. Later, he was editor of an English language newspaper which had been recently established there.

Stirred by a caustic comment from a lady author whose books were best sellers, Mr. Shippey took the matter, and typewriter in hand came forth with a book, "Nothing Ever Happens." This production was followed by three others, "The Girl Who Wanted Experience," "The Great American Family" and "If We Only Had Money."

Urge City Improve Garbage Disposal

Recommendation that the city council of Victoria take steps to provide improved methods of garbage disposal at an early date, will be made to the council meeting Friday afternoon, by the Union Board of Health.

"Union Board of Health regrets that a satisfactory method of garbage disposal does not exist in Greater Victoria," report of the board stated. "Refuse drifting on to beaches is a menace to health and broken bottles, a source of danger to children."

The board will recommend that E. Gropp, assistant sanitary inspector be promoted to senior inspector upon the retirement of T. Lancaster, July 31, and that council advertise for someone to fill position of assistant sanitary inspector. It will recommend also that council accept the resignation of Mrs. Bernice Flury from position of Public Health Nurse on the Health office staff.

Russians May Want Veto Kept In Atomic Energy Control Plan

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Three points of sharp disagreement between Russian and United States plans for solving atomic energy problems led diplomatic authorities to wonder today whether they might become a "hot source" of great power controversy.

The three major differences immediately apparent here between the United States proposals and the Russian proposals are:

1. Russian delegate Andrei Gromyko rejected, though indirectly, U.S. representative Bernard Baruch's demand that none of the great powers should have the right to veto any actions proposed in handling atomic questions in future years. In other words, Mr. Baruch laid down the tenet that once the powers had made a treaty setting forth what they would and would not do about atomic energy and atomic bombs, no one of them would be able to prevent actions by the others to enforce the pledges.

2. Mr. Gromyko demanded that before any sort of international atomic control machinery is created production of atomic bombs should be stopped and those now in existence—meaning those in the United States—should be destroyed. Mr. Baruch, on the other hand, suggested that the machinery first should be created and that when it was in operation the United States then would be prepared to dispose of its atomic explosives.

3. Implied in Mr. Gromyko's proposal for an initial treaty to banish atomic armaments is the idea of "outlawing" these weapons. But many of the advisers who helped develop the U.S. plan have contended that this is an impractical approach to the problem. They argued that during the war all major belligerents had stocks of poison gas to use and that none of them used it simply because gas warfare had been outlawed.

Russians' Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—Members of the United Nations' Atomic Energy Commission weighed today a Russian plan for a world convention to outlaw atomic weapons which, if adopted, would compel the United States to destroy all her atom bombs within three months.

The Russian plan, offered as a substitute for an American proposal under which the United States has conditionally offered to share her atomic secrets and destroy the bombs, would be put into force by ratification of half the nations of the world.

On vital points it was drastically at variance with the conditions which were laid down last Friday by U.S. delegate Bernard M. Baruch and which must be met before the United States would pool her atomic "know-how" under a guarantee of world control.

Egypt Sheltering Arab Grand Mufti 'Political Refugee'

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt's Foreign Minister made it plain today that the Nile kingdom will grant asylum to Haj Amin el Husseini, the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem.

Lufti el Said Pasha, Foreign Minister, told reporters the "Egyptian constitution prevents giving up political refugees to any other country." He had advised the British government of his decision to grant sanctuary to the Mufti, spiritual leader of all Palestine's Arabs, an informant said. The practice of giving asylum to those seeking it is traditional in Arabic countries.

A communique issued at Abdin Palace said the Mufti—forced out of Palestine by British pressure in 1937—"called at the palace, signed the royal visitors' book and asked for an audience with King Farouk" Wednesday night. IN THE PALACE

"The audience was granted," the communique added, "and the Mufti told the King: 'I have taken refuge in your palace.'"

The Mufti's whereabouts had stirred widespread speculation since he fled from exile in a Parisian suburb about June 9, and efforts to locate him in the Middle East coincided with an outbreak of violence involving Jews and British troops in the Holy Land, where 25 persons were slain and six British officers kidnapped since Sunday.

The prevailing opinion in Cairo was that he had fled France by air.

The Mufti—accused by Britain of making broadcasts for the Germans during the war and hated by Yugoslavia as a war criminal—is an implacable foe of Jewish immigration to the Holy Land.
